Sir/Ma'am,
Greetings from GNDEC, Ludhiana.
Guru Nanak Dev Engineering College has emerged as one of the most prestigious engineering institutes of North India over the 70 years of its inception and is conducting B.Tech, M.Tech., MBA, BCA, BBA and PhD for meeting the research requirement of the technical field.
Since practical training is equal in importance to theoretical foundation, our course curriculum is designed to ensure students get maximum practical exposure to the real-world aspects of their respective engineering branch. We are in the process of enrolling the final year students of our institute with various industrial organizations for Semestrial Training.
The programme will be structured to ensure a comprehensive learning experience, with the following requirements and deliverables from the student:

- Gain max practical exposure by regularly attending the training with proper attendance.
- Prepare and submit a synopsis for the assigned project.
- Work on the project with focus on the detailed experiment part.
- Submit Mid-Term and Final Reports.
- Maintain and submit a Daily Diary checked by the company mentor.

We expect our students to maintain regular attendance and active participation throughout the training period.

We recommend our graduating student
